

Macduff Shellfish (Scotland) Limited

Company Overview

Macduff Shellfish (Scotland) Ltd., a United Kingdom-based, wholly owned subsidiary of Clearwater Seafoods Incorporated (collectively referred to as the “Company”), is a vertically integrated shellfish company engaged in the business of, and the ownership, operation and lease of assets and property in connection with, the harvesting, processing, distribution and marketing of seafood.

Supply Chain

The Company has a zero-tolerance approach to slavery and human trafficking within the organisation and its’ supply chains and is committed to conducting business ethically to ensure that the risk of slavery and human trafficking taking place within the business or its’ supply chains is mitigated. The Company expects its’ suppliers to meet these same standards. This is achieved through direct engagement with suppliers and procurement partners and educating our workforce on the risk of modern slavery.

Macduff Shellfish – a responsible employer

To ensure that we recruit and treat employees fairly, eliminating modern slavery at all costs, our human resources (HR) policies set out our procedures on how we:

- recruit and select employees in a fair, lawful and professional manner, both for internal and external candidates.
- treat all employees fairly during their employment and, if there is an occasion when an employee does not feel that they have been treated fairly, there are procedures in place to raise a grievance or involve a local trade union, where they exist, or where this is a legal requirement to do so.
- manage the exit of an employee from the business in a fair and consistent manner.
- provide fair working conditions for all our employees including terms and conditions of employment, remuneration, working hours, health and safety, resting time, holiday entitlements and benefits. These are applied according to territory-specific statutory requirements. Our employees’ pay will not be lower than that required by law or, in the absence of a law, the level paid generally within that industry.

Our Policies and Principles

We re dedicated to maintaining a fair and ethical workplace for our all our staff. The Company has in place a range of policies and measures which address issues relevant to slavery and human trafficking, including:

- The Code of Business Conduct, including Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy.
- An Enterprise Risk Management Committee that utilizes a risk assessment framework to identify areas of potential risk in the business, including slavery or human trafficking with its’s supply chain.
- A “Speak-Up Policy”, refreshed in 2020. The policy sets out our commitments to speaking up about serious concerns, detailing how any person working at or with Macduff Shellfish, including those employed in our supply chain, can raise concerns. The policy includes appropriate guidance which enables employees to report in confidence any concerns of malpractice or other unethical behaviour, which includes any concerns related to slavery and human trafficking issues.

- An Audit Committee with oversight of Speak-Up complaints
- Written contracts with suppliers and vendors where appropriate.
- A corporate social responsibility strategy which reinforces our commitment to combatting modern slavery.
- A Dignity at Work policy and procedures to promote diversity, establishing mutual respect as a core value in the office and which addresses discrimination, harassment and bullying.

Due Diligence Processes

The following action steps have been undertaken with the aim of ensuring that the risk of slavery and human trafficking taking place in any part of our business or our supply chains is mitigated:

- During 2020 we have refreshed our Code of Conduct. The Code of Conduct describes what we must do and how we must behave to ensure we have the trust of all our stakeholders. It details how we will create better outcomes in the right way in line with our purposes and values. All employees are required to sign our Code of Conduct annually.
- Working with skippers and crews to ensure an understanding of current rules and regulations applicable to fishing operations in the UK.
- The development of a written document outlining current rules and regulations applicable to Macduff's vessels.
- Standard terms and conditions of employment (including crewing contracts) are regularly reviewed, ensuring that the relationship between employees and the business continues to remain fair and equitable.
- We work with several recruitment agencies who as partners must comply with our rigorous due diligence assessment to ensure that they are recruiting in line with our policies, values and focus on driving inclusive and values-based recruitment practices.
- Mandatory online training on the Business Code of Conduct, and online classroom-based compliance, ethics and human rights training and continuous awareness initiatives to all employees.
- To avoid complex supply chain issues, Macduff endeavours to procure supplies directly from UK-administered vessels and harvesting companies rather than auctions, ensuring a single tier supply chain in most cases.
- Many of our supply chain partners have standard tender documentation, ensuring that prospective partners confirm that they comply with the Modern Slavery Act. In recent years we have increased the number of such agreements.
- Steps are taken to strengthen supply chain auditing and verification and investigate any and all reports of unethical labour practices and adopt remedial actions, wherever they exist in the supply chain.
- We have identified procurement staff as the most likely members of staff to become aware of modern slavery and human trafficking in the supply chain through contact with vessel owners and crew. We are developing advance training programmes for these staff members.
- To ensure legal compliance, conducted reviews and third-party audits of our crewing agencies and associated contracts; and
- Continue to work to develop personal relationships in order to better understand our commercial partners and foster long-term relationships to ensure that strategic partners share our business values.

Our Continuing Commitment

In 2019 our parent company Clearwater partnered with International Organization for Women in the Seafood Industry (WSI) to further the organizations' goals of a seafood sector free from gender inequality, sexism, discrimination, slavery, and human trafficking. In addition to becoming a member in 2019, Clearwater has representation on the WSI Board of Directors.

To ensure that slavery and human trafficking is not taking place in any part of our business or supply chains we:

- use robust supplier selection processes in compliance with the Company's Code of Conduct.
- carry out regular visits to all our sites to ensure that standards are being maintained and improved and
- monitor ethical standards independently through use of the SEDEX system, which ensures transparency.

Taken together, this integrated approach will enable the Company to better understand its commercial partners, foster long-term relationships with suppliers, and manage the risks associated with unethical labour practices. The Company will continue to take these and other steps during the current financial year, with the aim of ensuring that slavery and human trafficking do not occur in any part of our business or our supply chains.

To make employees aware of the Act and the drivers of modern slavery, as well as the possible indicators, we share this statement with all employees through our internal communication channels and a copy of this statement is available on the Company website.
